JOHN "PUG" WALLACE

Summer of '58- White Rock, S.C.- John "Pug" Wallace graduates without honors and heads for the beach. What a day! No more Algebra or homework!

Upon arrival at O.D., Pug discovers "The Pad"- a different kind of classroom with new-type teachers like "Worry" Smith, Maurice Treadway, Harry Driver, David Michael, and dozens of original Jitterbugs (you would call shaggers). The "education" would last a lifetime.

As time moves on, Pug opens the first "Shag Club" off the beach in Columbia. Governors, college coaches, sports writers, et al made "Fanny's" famous- along with Pug.

Later, some beach buddies open a dance studio and Pug becomes a "Dance Instructor". With these varied "courses, Pug became a natural salesman. Years passed and Pug is home again- at O.D.

This circle of life has brought memories that would take a book or two to relate. However, the incidents at O.D. will forever be the most memorable
